ABSTRACT

A method of generating a function, the function for assessing a parameter. The method includes: displaying a field for receiving a rule on a computer; entering a rule

5   into the computer; transmitting the rule to a server; storing the rule on the server; and generating a function for assessing the parameter.